U. S. Divorce Rate
Climbs to New Peak

One in Three Marriages on Rocks, Report Says.

WASHINGTON — One American family broke up for every three—approximately—that were formed last year, federal security agency reveals.

More than 500,000 marriages ended in divorce courts in 1945, an all-time record representing a 25.3 per cent rise over the previous peak divorce year, 1944.

The divorces were 31 per cent of the marriages, which totaled 1,618,331 last year or about 8.7 per cent below Cupid's biggest year, 1942.

FSA's study, the first federal reporting of divorce statistics, generally attests clear of interpretation save to show that both marriage and divorce rates rise with prosperity, wartime or otherwise, and fall with depression.

"The marriage rate is the more sensitive of the two, since a marriage contract can be entered into more readily than it can be dissolved," FSA observes.

For lonely hearts there are few clues except this: The marriage rate is consistently higher in the West and South than in the rest of the country.

"The South and the West are seen to be competing for first place, with the South leading six years out of the last nine. The West, however, provided the highest annual rate for any region when it reached 18.5 (for each 1,000 population) in 1942.

Divorce rates have nearly doubled in nine years, FSA reported. Fairly steady at 1.9 divorces per 1,000 population in 1937-39, it climbed to 3.6 in 1945.

The ratio of divorces to marriage also soared from 17.8 divorces per 100 marriages to the 1945 total of 31 divorces per 100 marriages.

Except for the depression years, the divorce curve in the United States has gone up virtually without interruption since the first estimate—72,002—was made in 1908.

Youth Whips Paralysis, Plays Ball at Party

CHICAGO — Eight-year-old Gary Walsh and three playmates agreed it was the best party ever. There was ice cream and cake and cookies galore. Best of all, there was Gary. He was paralyzed from head to foot, a victim of polio.

At Gary's party he played ball with his friends, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Walsh, watching, thought parents in town.

Gary can use his hands again to model the clay figures he likes so well. Daily exercise is eliminating the last signs of stiffness in his right leg. He is back in the third grade at Bradwell school.

The Walshes give the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis credit for making the boy's recovery possible.

Also during the war, army veterinarians developed a single vaccine effective against both "eastern" and "western" types of equine encephalomyelitis, or "sleeping sickness" in horses.

They developed a purified vaccine that can be used on human beings exposed to the same disease, which can be transmitted to man from horses.

Mass means of immunizing both horse and man against lockjaw—tetanus—were perfected by veterinarians.

Tetanus results from wounds infected with organisms that occur in the soil, particularly highly fertile soil.

Body of Man Found in Two Boxes and Milk Can

SAN FRANCISCO—Identity was sought of a man whose dismembered body was found stuffed in two boxes and a milk can hidden in a theater.

The gruesome discovery was made by four boys who noticed a foul odor in the alley.

The boys said they saw two large cartons, of the type used to ship eggs, in which were a number of parcels of brown wrapping paper. Opening one, the boys found a human foot.

They called police.

Inspectors opened several more of the parcels and found another foot, a calf of one leg and a forearm.

By piecing together the parts of the body, the coroner's office was able to determine "it" that it was that of a man. The head and neck are missing.

Many Monkeys Will Be Imported for Polio Study

WASHINGTON — Plans for the large scale importation of a particular species of monkeys — described as "the only research tool which offers a reasonable hope of success" in unravelling the mysterious of poliomyelitis — were announced by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Dr. H. M. Weaver, acting research director of the foundation, held a news conference the first step into jungles of the Netherlands East Indies and the Philippine islands.

Drowns 3 Children in Bathing; Kills Himself

IOWA CITY, IOWA — Dr. Frank L. Love reported that Mrs. Thomas Kelley, 32, drowned her three children in the bathtub and then killed herself with a shotgun blast.

The coroner said it was "a clear case of murder and suicide" and that Mrs. Kelley had been despondent.

The children were Joyce, 11; Tommy, 4, and Johnny, 8 months.

Mrs. Kelley left a note which said, "This is the way out."

Army Keeps Up War on Disease

Progress Seen in Fight on 'Sleeping Sickness' and Other Ailments.

WASHINGTON — Veterinarians advanced the fight against arthritis, influenza and certain forms of "sleeping sickness" during the war. The research on arthritis is by no means conclusive but it offers hope that a cure to a cause of the baffling and painful disease may have been discovered.

American Veterinary Medical association reports that an active agent which causes the disease in swine was isolated by three workers at Iowa State college.

Iowa researchers described the disease agent as "apparently a new pathogen (disease organism)." When healthy pigs were exposed to this agent, they developed arthritis. The association reported no more details.

What They Found.
The contribution of veterinarians to knowledge of human influenza was this:

They narrowed the field of suspected animal transmitters of the disease to two types of influenza— "A" and "B."

Army "vets" definitely absolved horses of blame.

They discovered that the virus found in horses stricken with equine influenza — or "shipping fever" — is entirely different from either the "A" or "B" virus.

But they also found that microscopic studies of affected tissue in horses showed strong similarity to human tissue studied during the world wide flu epidemic in 1918.

The virus of that great plague never was isolated. Some investigators suspect that it was entirely different from "A" or "B."

Army investigators are not yet prepared to give an appraisal of this finding.

Working on Vaccine.
In the course of their investigations they also found that while flu in swine and in dogs (canine distemper) is very similar to the disease in humans, the virus in both cases is different.

The army now is working on a vaccine to protect horses from flu. Already available is a vaccine that is effective against human "A" and "B."

Also during the war, army veterinarians developed a single vaccine effective against both "eastern" and "western" types of equine encephalomyelitis, or "sleeping sickness" in horses.

They developed a purified vaccine that can be used on human beings exposed to the same disease, which can be transmitted to man from horses.
